SN 10/043,996

Applicant's election of the species of Figures 1-4, namely claims 1-14 with traverse has been acknowledged. The election is treated without traverse because applicant has failed to point out specifically and distinctly why and how the grouped species are not patentably distinct. With additional two species and an additional set of claims with different scope, that will require a significant of effort to examine the claims and extensive search for two additional species. Therefore, the requirement for the election of species is proper.

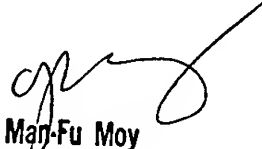

Claims 15-20 are withdrawn from consideration.

Claims 8 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 (b) as unpatentable over Jung et al in view of Pachciarz et al. It would have been obvious to provide the fuel tank of Jung with stress relief feature as shown by Pachciarz et al element 36 in order to prevent excessive collapse and expansion of a tank body.

Claims 10-14 are objected to as depending on a rejected claim, however, they would be allowable if rewritten in independent form.
